

Appendix 1 - Parents' Consultation

General principles

We will consult with parents when reviewing our policy for relationships education and relationships and sex education, which helps inform our decisions on when and how certain curriculum content is covered and how it is delivered. The Junior School will consult parents about the content of anything that will be taught within sex education.

Our consultation will include giving the space and time for parents to input, ask questions, share concerns and for the school to decide the way forward. We will listen to parents' views and then make a reasonable decision as to how to proceed. What is taught, and how, is ultimately a decision for the school and consultation does not provide a parental veto on curriculum content or delivery. We may adapt our timescales, process and content to respond to the needs of the school.

Junior School

We will provide examples and links to resources each year via email. This will provide parents with an opportunity to review materials, ask for further information and enable parents to provide feedback. Parents will be able to view all resources on request, including resources used by external providers.

Senior School

We will provide examples of the resources we use at an annual parents' evenings dedicated to relationships and sex education. Parents will be able to view all resources on request, including resources used by external providers.
